

Kevin Sarfo

Summary

I am a beginner Fullstack developer, with a theoretical base, gained during three years of studies in the field of "Web Applications and Databases". Access to studies in a given year, academic knowledge and input that apply to candidates over candidates without access to the field. Creative, unconventional thinking and strong motivation to learn new technology solve me. My goal is to have previous experience as a Fullstack or Frontend Developer, following the development of web and mobile applications.
